The Party Line

First let us correct an error which appeared in this column concerning the young man from Ward 2 who is an Aldermanic aspirant. His correct name is Robert E. Womboldt. Another salient feature of his history which did not appear in previous reporting is the fact that Womboldt is a World War II veteran which should give him many votes. The veterans from the north side of the City have long felt the need of one of their own comrades on the Board of Aldermen.

It Adds a undred Viles to the Day!

Owners of the 1949 Cadillac are going to get a pleasant surprise when they take it out for that first cross-country run. Without any extra effort whatsoever, they are going to wind up that first day's touring about a hundred miles farther from home than they expected to be! For here, beyond any doubt, is the greatest "mile-eater" that ever rolled over a highway. We are not talking about excessive speed—because, regardless of the power they have at their command, sensible people observe the laws of the road and the rules of safety. But the 1949 Cadillac is so cat-quick and eager-so smooth and easy and effortless-that it covers an amazing amount of distance inside the safe and legal limits. You take the hills as fast as the level stretches—you make the first hundred yards away from a stop light as fast as you make the second hundred—and the car's matchless agility enables you to avoid many of the pockets in slowmoving traffic. The secret, of course, is found in the great new Cadillac V-type engine—plus the marvelous new engineering in the Cadillac chassis. Actually, you almost seem to move by automatic propulsion. There is no performance like it—anywhere in the world.

Mr. Agastino Maraldi, Italian Consul-General of Boston, spoke on the subject: "Present Day Italy," at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Mon-Bouve-Boston School

Newton Rotary Club on Monday, March 7.

He stated that the last war cost Italy almost everything she had accomplished since she gained her independence as a nation. Reconstruction, however, has advanced remarkably and even the railroads and shipping are improved. It was our contributions of food following the war that saved and preserved untold lives. The social and political conditions in Italy are still retarded.

The biggest problem is what do do with the excess population and the resultant low standard of living. Mr. Maraldi said that Italy needs not only the material but even more. He moral said:

It goes without saying that we went to school and to church, and probably spent more hours per week then in attendance at each of those places, then the girls and boys do today. returned, I was asked to the platform, and had to inform the class what I had found out. I be lieve that occasion was my first official introduction to the Reference Room of the Public Library. I happened to be in this same room only recently, and Ned Childs, a classmate through all the grades, was also there. When he left the room he said to me, "don't this remind you of the hold days?" I replied that it did, but I feel sure he didn't remember the above incident, but nevertheless, he had hit the nail on the head. As evidence of the steem and respect which all of this girls and boys, through the years, had for Mr. Sawin, an appeal was made soon after his death, "to accumulate a fund, the objects of which shall be the assisting of his widow, and the establishing of a suitable memorial for the school." I have before me a copy of that notice, containing his nicture, and a

In the Fall, whenever night frosts split open the burrs, the chestnuts would be exposed to view high up on the towering trees. It was a case of first come, first served, so we arose between five and six o'clock in the morning and started on our quest. Each boy took along a morial for the school. I have be-fore me a copy of that notice, containing his picture and a short eulogy, with a list of the committee, comprised of Bige-low graduates, two or three from each class, covering the years 1872 to 1904. He served as master from 1870 to 1905. In order to record here what disposition was made of the fund, several sections. eral of that committee have been Hallow'een, with its supervised fun today in Newton, is a grand event for the children, and so much better than the way we celebrated. We took part in innocent pranks, but as the years went by, a bit of "deviltry" was occasionally perpetrated, and fi-nally the hand of the law was invited to calm down our exuberant spirits. When Presidential elections came around, large American flags were hung across between buildings in the business section, with the pictures of the nominees with their names in bold letters. There were no radios or telephones in those days to bring the campaign talks to the homes, but we did have evening torch-light parades with bands to enthuse the voters into action. When we were not old enough to participate in the parades, we could still be hangers-on, follow-

Our crowd of boys who lived in the Mount Ida section of Newton Corner, were fortunate in having an almost unlimited area in which we could roam and have our fun and adventure. I mean by that, there were six large private estates at the top of Cen-tre Street Hill, three on the east-erly side of that street, and three across the street to the west. The latter extended toward Newthe Sacred Heart; also a vacant wood section, now Edmands Park, which I have mentioned in —MEMORIES a previous article. Altogether it

The places we had access to were the Converse estate, now the Converse avenue home development; the Fitch estate, now occupied by Mrs. Frank A. Day the Prescott place, now St. Raphaels Hall; the large Edmands estate, now the Madden estate; the Shannon estate, in front of which is the same high stone wall which we boys were led to believe figured in the Indian and Revolutionary days; the Andrews B. We had the run of these estates which meant the grounds, orchards, stables, cow barns and the pig stys too, if we were so inclined. The wind falls of apples and pears were ours to eat or tuck into our blouses for later consumption, and with special permission we sometimes were allowed in the grape arbors and cherry trees. Occasionally, we were invited into a kitchen, where a good-natured cook would treat us to some hot delicacies fresh from her oven. In other words, our status was almost a carteblanche, so no wonder we boys cannot forget those years and look back to them with happy memories.

I mentioned in my article on winter fun, about our white man Indian fight with a snow fort.

I mentioned in my article on winter fun, about our white man Indian fight with a snow fort. Well, we boys had a similar kind of fight in the summer one year and it took place in the wooded part of the Edmands (now Madden) estate. Those who were Indians were painted up appropriately, wore feathers on their heads and, of course, carried bows and arrows. The white men had the best accoutrement which we boys could muster for the occasion. We had an Adeal back ground for the fight, with plenty of large trees bushes and a results of the fight, with plenty of large trees bushes and a results.

Herb Magic Gives Fish

Wee Pinch Makes Fish

All over America women are learning about the special goodness of herbs in cookery—ness of herbs in little specially fish cookery. Do you them you have the mount of the property of the special s in your refrigerator. Let a piece of herb butter the size of a small nut melt atop each serving of broiled fish, to permeate the juices and blend them into new adding a touch, an accent, a personality flavor? Are you letting thyme, tarragon, marioram, dill and bay leaf bring compliments to your broiled haddock, cod, or salmon. An inexpensive richness. (Vegetables too like herb flavors. Use herb butters on string beans, pears, spinach, dish can make your family sit up and observe, "Oh, Mom, this is super — it tastes different, somehow, Let's have it tomorrow,

Let's say you've been using sage, chili powder, celery and onion salt, curry powder, horse radish. Maybe thyme, too, as well as parsley, caraway sedd, chives and garlic occasionally. Why not try other "fine-herbs" as well as "robust herbs?" Fine herbs are basil, chervile, marjoram thyme, roseman, and commendation of lemon to the same and particular them. basil, chervile, marjoram, garden thyme, rosemary, tarragon, and chives. The robust herbs are borage, wild marjoram, mint, sage, summer savory, winter savory, sorrel, caraway, fennel, dill, horseradish, and parsley. Camp stores or food specialty shops everywhere carry herbseasonings

Of these, thyme, bay leaf and parsley are "considered" herbs especially suitable for fish cookery. Delightful surprises, however, await those who experience the special savoriness of other herbs used either separately or in special combinations. Sweet basil and chervil, for instance, are a gourmet-combination; also marjoram and garden thyme; while rosemary and tar-ragon make an unusual dish wherever you will let them.

The English use fennel, minced or tied in bunches for boiling fat fish such as mackerel or salmon —and Southern cooks agree with them. Others liked chopped fresh them. Others liked chopped fresh mint leaves or mint sauce. Still aircraft entering the Berlin corridor is the Air Traffic Control operated by the Airways and Air Communications Service (AACS). This agency is the major communications system of the U. S. Air Force and operates airways and navigational aids for Air Force planes throughout the world.

It is believed in aviation circles that the airlift's high record of safety is partly due to the fact that only Military Air Transport Service (MATS) and MATS trained pilots fly the corridors, and also due to the versatility of USAF pilots, air traffic control, maintenance and radiar person nel. Instrument, cross country, and all types of navigation are common practices to these USAF airmen. Even if a flight in the airlift were cleared to the tower from the range or beacon by Visual Flight Rules, the pilot flies the same pattern he would use as if he were using Ground Controlled Approach (GCA). In this way he maintains his proficiency for forthcoming instrument flights whenever German weather closes in. Ten GCA units operated by AACS are presently in use for the airlift, the latest of which includes a new air transportable unit flown from the U. S. and set up at Tempelhof.

Complaints are received continually of speed and other traffic violations throughout the city. The officers are on the job of enforcement constantly over a wide area, but obviously cannot be everywhere at one time. When they are present traffic flows along smoothly and there is little cause for complaint.

As a reminder, the Chief calls to the attention of each driver that these rules were enacted for his safety. He and each of his fellow citizens is a part of the government and the oificer of the law is simply the representative of all. Basically, each driver or citizen is a potential officer himself. Why not follow this line of thought and regulate your own driving accordingly? Don't be a victim of needless accident. pronounced enough to be considered as a trend.

"Boston Edison is launching an aggressive campaign to build our electric load, particularly in the homes in our territory. This campaign is being aided by the current trend toward lower prices for many of the important home applicances. There is also increasing knowledge on the part of the public that they get more for the dollar they spend for electricity than for any other dollar in the family budget."

In The Public Interest A MESSAGE TO THE CUSTOMERS OF

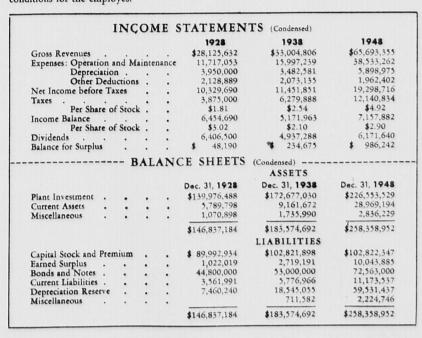

BOSTON EDISON COMPANY HIS COMPANY has mailed to 22,564 stockholders and 3200 a detailed report of its operations for the year 1948. The expense of sending the full report to 423,335 customers would be prohibitive, so the Company takes this method of informing its customers of some of the significant trends in the Company's operations during the last twenty years.

It is our paramount obligation to provide adequate and dependable service in the manufacture and distribution of electricity at the lowest possible cost. The management of this Company strives at all times to fulfill this obligation to the public, consistent with a fair and reasonable return to the investor and fair and reasonable wages and good working conditions for the employes.

We believe our customers will be interested in our Income Statements for the calendar years 1928, the last complete pre-depression year; 1938, a typical pre-war year; and 1948, a post-war year. We also submit condensed Balance Sheets as at December 31, 1928, 1938 and 1948. The figures and accompanying charts tell an eloquent story of the manner in which this Company has met your steadily increasing demands for service by plant expansion, has offset phenomenal increases in costs by improved operating efficiency and has actually reduced rates to make electricity the shining exception to the rule of high prices.

According to news reports the Mayor and other officials and semi-official spokesmen in the city, are pleased with Governor Dever's scheme to keep down the MTA fare. Perhaps sometime it would be interesting to ask any of these gentlemen whether or not they merely had the idea in mind of keeping the tax rate down when they announced their suport of the ten-point plan. It is doubtful if there are enought people in the City of Newton who could be that easily misled.

Emphasizing that there is not one, but several kinds of heart disease, Dr. Egon E. Kattwinkel, chairman, and Dr. Walter O. Blanchard, member of the Cardiac Program Committee, medical advisory committee to the Newton Heart Demonstration Program, discussed "Causes, Types and Prevalence of Heart Disease" at the third session of the Health Department's course on "The Public Health Aspects of Heart Disease" held Monday at the Newtonville Library.

The three more common types of heart disease—rheumatic, hypertensive and coronary — were discussed by Dr. Kattwinkel.

"These three kinds of heart disease," Dr. Kattwinkel said, "account for about 90 per cent of all heart cases."

The use of sulfa drugs to prevent recurring attacks of rheumatic fever shows promise of reducing rheumatic heart disease. Rheumatic heart disease is now the leading cause of death between the ages of 10 and 15.

Hypertensive and coronary heart disease take their toll chiefly among the older age groups, the speaker continued, and are found more frequently among men than women. In both these kinds of heart disease, as is true of rheumatic fever, there loads of we young men and our girl friends found great enjoy-ment. After the Puritanical ban on Sunday amusements had sort of ameliorated, we sometimes spent a Sabbath in the same manner. When portable victrolas came into the market, and one canoe was dispensing music, other canoes gathered around and the group floated down the river together, singing songs to the popular airs. There may have been some romance to a two-some canoe trip, and undoubtedly there was; but the whole atmosphere of the occasion in the open air under the moon and stars was much preferable to the present automobile parking on lonely dark roads. And besides, we fellows had to keep one eye on our watches, as we were obliged to make the last train from Riverside, for if we missed that, it meant walk over to Common-wealth Avenue so as to be sure and catch the last trolley to Newton. And in those days we were supposed to get our girls home before midnight, or else! You may not realize it, but the Young Men's Christian Associa-tion has been in existence in this country for at least 100 years, and the boys' branch of that work was organized 80 years ago in Salem, Mass. During the early 1890's, when the Newton Y.M.C.A. had their rooms on the second floor of the Bacon Block, Washington street, there were about thirty of us Newton Corner boys who signed a petition to the Directors of that organization, asking that a Boys' Branch be organized. At least a half dozen of those boys still reside here in the Newton Corner section, and the Newton Corner section, and some of them have been active on the "Y" board during the intervening years. A gymnasium was opened in the hall of the old Nonantum Block which then stood on the crest of a slight rise on the northerly side of the Square. I understand some of that old building is still the rear section of part of the present block on Washington street, in which

Rep. Rawson Defends Committee Report

Last Tuesday in the House of Representatives Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton successfully Rawson of Newton successfully defended the report of the Election Laws Committee recommending rejection of Senate Bill No. 5, which would have outlawed Proportional Representation as a method of election in Plan E cities.

Rep. Toomey (D) of Cambridge moved substitution of the bill for the committee report. Rep. Rawson pointed out to the House that Plaz E is a form of city government recognized by law, and available to any city whose voters prefer to have it. Cambridge and Lowell now have Cambridge and Lowell now have Plan E and four other cities have voted to try it. Since under Plan E the statute provides that the city council shall be elected by P.R.—to outlaw P.R. would destroy Plan E and the will of the people of the cities.

He pleaded for home rule,-to let the citizens of any city man-age their affairs in their own way, provided they do so lawfully. Substitution of the bill was defeated 122 to 92 on a roll call vote, and the adverse report of the committee was accepted.

TO ALL NEWTON OWNERS OF CADILLAC-OLDSMOBILE and LASALLE AUTOMOBILES . . .

As a practical business man you appreciate the importance of getting satisfactory results at reasonable cost. You want your car to perform smoothly, comfortably and safely, particularly during Spring with the many pleasant driving days ahead. So we feel you should know about us . . . . We do general repairing, and for over fifteen years have specialized on Cadillacs, La Salles and Oldsmobiles, for which we are fully qualified to render a complete service.

We have the necessary expertly trained mechanics. You will appreciate for instance, that when we installed "Bear Alignment Rack" equipment, we were not content with just a little instruction on its practical use. Instead we sent one of our mechanics to a complete course at the factory in Rock Island, Illinois, to insure accuracy and better workmanship.

Experienced car owners will tell you that a little care now can save a lot of money later. Regular lubrication is essential.

You won't have to stop out in the middle of nowhere with motor failure if you will just let us give your car a complete check regularly.

BRAKES

The battery is the heart of the electrical system of your car. It will pay you to let us keep a proper check on

No part of your car is more important than your brakes. They can make the difference between safety and possible accidents.

HYDRA-MATIC . . .

Don't put off needed repairs. Use our fast, dependable service, and free check up. From a minor adjustment to a complete overhaul, our service is faster.

METAL WORK

We are equipped to take care of all metal work on your car. Don't neglect any broken parts. We fix them quickly.

OUR MEN are paid on a salary basis and we give them paid vacations. Consequently they are much more interested in the quality of their work rather than "piece-work short-cuts". OUR EQUIPMENT and methods are modern. OUR OVERHEAD is cut to a minimum so that the resultant savings can be passed on to you.

Champions galore will be featured in the Ice Chips of 1949, the Skating Club of Boston's colorful annual skating production, which opens tomorrow night and runs through Sunday with matinees Saturday and Sunday at the Boston Garden.

Heading the list of champions is pretty Barbara Ann Scott, Olympie and two times world champion and one of Canada's foremost athletic personalities. The cute 20-year-old skater has twice won the Lou Marsh Memorial trophy, the equivalent of this country's Sullivan award, as Canada's outstanding amateur athlete and she has three times been named Rose Bowl winner as Canada's top woman athlete. Then threre is also Gretchen Merrill, six times national champion and a member of the American Olympic team last Winter; little Jo Barnum of Milton, national novice tillist; Doris and Walter Noffke of Holyoke, national pair titleholders, and Lois Waring and Walter Bainbridge, national and North American dance kings. Two recently crowned Eastern figure skating champs, 14-year-old Tenley Albright of Newton and 12-year-old Marion Murphy, both of Newton, will also appear in specialty spots.
